situated,

v.

and JUAN MARIN,

Defendants.

NO. CV-06-3090-RHW

ORDER ADDRESSING PENDING MOTIONS

Before the Court are Plaintiffs' Motion to Certify Class (Ct. Rec. 74); Defendant William Evans's Motion for Summary Judgment (Ct. Rec. 80); Plaintiffs' Motion to Vacate Remainder of Scheduling Order (Ct. Rec. 112); Plaintiffs' Motion for Protective Order (Ct. Rec. 116); Defendant's Motion to Exclude All of Portions of Declarations (Ct. Rec. 130); and Defendant's Motion to Compel Discovery Responses (Ct. Rec. 142).

BACKGROUND

The two-named Plaintiffs are former employees of Evans Fruit Company (EFC). EFC operates over 7,000 acres of orchard property in Sunnyside, Mattawa, Cowiche, West Valley (Yakima) and Moxee, all located in Eastern Washington. EFC employs approximately 4,000 seasonal and year-round hourly and piece rate workers in its fields and its warehouses. Plaintiffs allege that EFC is a corporation that affects interstate commerce and is a RICO enterprise, pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 1961(4).

1 Plaintiffs were employed as year-round tractor drivers at EFC's ranch in 2 Sunnyside. Plaintiff Marin began at EFC in 1986 for a short period of time, was 3 hired again in 1997, and then was hired for year-round employment in 2004 4 through 2005. Plaintiff Sanchez began as a seasonal employee in 1994 and was 5 hired on a year-round basis in 1998 where he worked continuously until 2004.

6 Defendant Bill Evans, along with his wife, are officers and primary 7 shareholders of EFC. Defendant Tim Evans is EFC's vice president and manager.
8 Defendant Juan Marin has been the supervisor of the Sunnyside fruit orchards for 9 several years.

10 Plaintiffs bring this action, asserting that the named Defendants, William 11 Evans, Tim Evans, and Juan Marin, have conspired to violate the Racketeer 12 Influenced and Corrupt Organization Act (RICO) by participating in the affairs of 13 EFC, the enterprise, through a pattern of racketeering activity. The alleged pattern 14 of racketeering activity is a violation of § 274 of the Immigration and Nationality 15 Act, specifically, the employment of illegal aliens and the harboring of illegal 16 aliens.

17 Plaintiffs allege that an Illegal Immigrant Hiring Scheme exists, which 18 Plaintiffs describe as "Defendants have depressed their wages by knowingly 19 employing vast numbers of illegal immigrants, more than 5,000 in the last four 20 years alone, thereby depressing the market price for unskilled labor." Plaintiffs 21 allege that the Scheme violates § 274 of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

22 Plaintiffs seek to obtain class certification for the following class:

23 All persons legally authorized to be employed in the United 24 States who have been employed by Evans Fruit Co. as either hourly 25 wage or piece rate workers, from September 30, 2002 through the present.

26 Defendant William Evans has filed a Motion for Summary Judgment. Also 27 before the Court are Plaintiffs' motions seeking to stay discovery and Defendant's 28 motion to compel discovery.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This case was filed on September 29, 2006. A scheduling conference was held on February 23, 2007, and a Scheduling Order was entered on March 5, 2007. On June 21, 2007, Plaintiffs filed a Motion to Vacate Class Action Certification, which the Court granted on July 3, 2007. On September 17, 2007, Plaintiffs filed a motion for leave to file an amended complaint in order to add Defendant Tim Evans. On October 12, 2007, the parties filed a Stipulation in which they agreed to modify the original Scheduling Order that was entered in this case. The parties contemplated that Plaintiffs would be filing a motion for class certification and agreed to certain deadlines for filing the motion, response, and reply. The parties also set the deadlines for filing their expert reports for April 24, 2008 and set the discovery deadline for July 11, 2008. On November 23, 2007, the Court granted Plaintiffs' motion to file an amended complaint and granted the parties' stipulations amending the Scheduling Order.

On December 7, 2007, Plaintiffs filed their Motion to Certify Class. This motion was noted for hearing on February 19, 2008. On December 21, 2007, Defendant William Evans filed a Motion for Partial Summary Judgment and noted the hearing for February 26, 2008. A hearing was held on Defendant William Evans's Motion for Summary Judgment in Yakima, Washington, on that day. Plaintiffs were represented telephonically by Howard Foster and Greg Lighty. Defendant William Evans was represented by Brendan Monahan.

At the hearing, there was discussion concerning the scope of the motion. In his motion, Defendant had argued that Plaintiffs could not present any evidence that Defendant Evans committed any of the alleged predicate offenses. In their response, Plaintiffs had argued that their claims against Defendant William Evans were based on his role in the conspiracy to violate the civil Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organization Act (RICO). In reply, Defendant argued that Plaintiffs could not produce any evidence that any of the co-Defendants or co-conspirators

1 committed the predicate offenses.

2 At the hearing, Plaintiffs stated that they had admissible evidence that the 3 members of the conspiracy had the requisite knowledge required to commit the 4 predicate acts. Based on this representation, the Court permitted Plaintiffs to file a 5 sur-reply to present such evidence.

6 On March 11, 2008, Plaintiffs filed a sur-reply and submitted Declarations 7 from Plaintiff Ambrosio Marin (Ct. Rec. 126-2, Ex. A); Javier Borges (Ct. Rec.
8 126-2, Ex. B); Plaintiff Miguel Sanchez (Ct. Rec. 126-2, Ex. C); Cirilo Marin (Ct.
9 Rec. 126-2, Ex. D); and Joyce Usher (Ct. Rec. 126-2, Ex. F). A hearing was held 10 on the motion on April 22, 2008, in Yakima, Washington. Plaintiffs were 11 represented telephonically by Howard Foster, Matthew Galin, and Greg Lighty.
12 Defendants were represented by Scott Johnson.

13 Additionally, on February 22, 2008, Plaintiffs filed a Motion to Vacate the 14 Remainder of the Scheduling Order and on February 25, 2008, filed a Motion for 15 Protective Order. Defendants then filed a Motion to Compel Discovery Responses 16 on April 4, 2008.

17 Finally, on June 2, 2008, Defendants filed a Motion for Summary Judgment.
18 A hearing on the motion was held on July 14, 2008, in Spokane, Washington.
19 Plaintiffs were represented telephonically by Howard Foster, Matthew Galin, and 20 Greg Lighty. Defendants were represented in person by Bradford Axel.

21 All of these motions remain pending before the Court.

22 DISCUSSION

23 1. Plaintiffs' Motion for Class Certification

24 Plaintiffs seek to certify the following class:

25 Plaintiffs and all other persons legally authorized to be employed in 26 the United States who have been employed by Evans Fruit as either 27 hourly paid or piece rate paid workers from September 30, 2002 28

1 through the present.<sup>1</sup>

2 Fed. R. Civ. P. 23 sets forth the requirements to a class action. Fed. R. Civ.
3 P. 23(a) states:

4 One or more members of a class may sue or be sued as 5 representative parties on behalf of all only if (1) the class is so 6 numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable; (2) there are 7 questions of law or fact common to the class; (3) the claims or 8 defenses of the representative parties are typical of the claims or 9 defenses of the class; and (4) the representative parties will fairly and 10 adequately protect the interest of the class.

11 Plaintiffs are seeking class certification under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(3).

12 Thus, in addition to finding that the prerequisites are met, the Court must also find 13 that:

14 the questions of law or fact common to the members of the class 15 predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, 16 and that a class action is superior to other available methods for the 17 fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy.

18 Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(3).

19 In making these findings, the Court may consider the following factors:

- 20 (A) the interest of members of the class in individually 21 controlling the prosecution or defense of separate actions;
- 22 (B) the extent and nature of any litigation concerning the 23 controversy already commenced by or against members of the class;
- 24 (C) the desirability or undesirability of concentrating the 25 litigation of the claims in the particular forum;
- 26 (D) the difficulties likely to be encountered in the management 27 of the class action.

28 Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(3)(A)-(D).

Plaintiffs bear the burden of demonstrating that they have met each of the four requirements of Rule 23(a) and at least one of the requirements of Rule 23(b).
Lozano v. AT&T Wireless Services, Inc., 504 F.3d 718, 724 (9th Cir. 2007).

A. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)

i. Numerosity

Although Plaintiffs have not identified with specificity the number of

<sup>1</sup>Plaintiffs state that skilled workers who negotiate their pay would not be part of the proposed class.

1 putative class members, Defendants have not disputed this requirement.

2 ii. Commonality

3 Plaintiffs must show that there are questions of law or fact common to the 4 class. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(2). Commonality focuses on the relationship of 5 common facts and legal issues among class members. Dukes v. Wal-Mart, 509 6 F.3d 1168, 1177 (9th Cir. 2007). “The existence of shared legal issues with 7 divergent factual predicates is sufficient, as is the common core of salient facts 8 coupled with disparate legal remedies within the class. Hanlon v. Chrysler Corp., 9 150 F.3d 1011, 1019 (9th Cir. 1998). “The commonality test is qualitative rather 10 than quantitative—one significant issue common to the class may be sufficient to 11 warrant certification.” Dukes, 509 F.3d at 1177.

12 Plaintiffs identify the following common questions: (1) whether the 13 Defendants perpetrated the Illegal Immigrant Hiring Scheme in violation of the 14 Immigration and Naturalization Act and RICO; and (2) whether the company, 15 through Defendants William and Tim Evans, depressed wages because of the large 16 number of illegal workers employed there; and (3) damages.

17 The Court finds that Plaintiffs have met the permissive and minimal burden 18 of establishing commonality.

19 iii. Typicality

20 Plaintiffs must show that “the claims or defenses of the representative parties 21 be typical of the claims or defenses of the class.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(3).
22 “[R]epresentative claims are ‘typical’ if they are reasonably co-extensive with 23 those of absent class members; they need not be substantial identical.” Hanlon, 24 150 F.3d at 1020. “Typicality requires that the named plaintiffs be members of the 25 class they represent. Dukes, 509 F.3d at 1184. “Typicality is not defeated because 26 of the varied promotional opportunities at issue, or the differing qualifications of 27 plaintiffs and class members.” Id. at 1185 (citing Paxton v. Union Nat’l Bank, 688 28 F.2d 552, 562 (9th Cir. 1982)). In fact, “some degree of individuality is to be

1 expected in all cases, but that specificity does not necessarily defeat typicality.
2 Dukes, 509 F.3d at 1184. The question the Court must determine, then, is whether 3 the injury allegedly suffered by the named Plaintiffs, and the rest of the class 4 resulted from the same allegedly illegal conduct. Id.

5 Defendants argue that Plaintiffs are not typical of the class members they 6 seek to represent because under Plaintiffs' antitrust theory of damages, they fail to 7 show that they occupy the same labor market as the other class members whom 8 they seek to represent.

9 It is this requirement that is most troubling to the Court. Intuitively, one 10 would conclude there are too many variables regarding the employment at Evan 11 Fruit so that Plaintiffs, who are year-round tractor drivers at the Sunnyside orchard, 12 would be asserting claims that would not be typical of seasonal, piece-rate fruit 13 pickers. However, the claims are not necessarily specific to the particular job.
14 Rather, Plaintiffs are asserting that a company-wide policy, namely the Illegal 15 Hiring Scheme, affected all employees by reducing minimum wages that were 16 being paid for the particular jobs.

17 The Dukes case is instructive. In that case, the Circuit held that because all 18 female employees faced the same alleged discrimination based on company-wide 19 policies, the lack of a class representative for each management category did not 20 undermine the class certification. 509 F.3d at 1184. As the Circuit noted, it may 21 be prudent to have the class divided into sub-classes represented by a named 22 plaintiff from each of the differing job categories, but it is not necessary in order to 23 certify the class. Id. (quoting Hartman v. Duffey, 19 F.3d 1459, 1471 (D.C. Cir.
24 1994).

25 Here, the typicality is measured by the fact that the named Plaintiffs were 26 employees of Evans Fruit, and their claim is that they were allegedly injured by the 27 Illegal Hiring Scheme by reduction in pay, which is typical of the claims that 28 would be asserted by all members of the purported class.

1                   iv. Adequacy of Counsel

2           Rule 23(a)(4) permits certification of a class action only if “the 3 representative parties will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class.”
4 Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(4). This factor requires: (1) that the proposed representative 5 Plaintiffs do not have conflicts of interest with the proposed class, and (2) that 6 Plaintiffs are represented by qualified and competent counsel. Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 7 1020. “[A] class representative must be part of the class and ‘possess the same 8 interest and suffer the same injury’ as the class members.” Amchem Products, Inc.
9 v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591, 626 (1997) (citations omitted).

10          Defendants argue that Plaintiffs’ counsel are running this case and they have 11 essentially entered into a holding pattern while they deal with other cases in other 12 jurisdictions. Defendants suggest that the financial commitment of Plaintiffs’ 13 counsel may come before the best interests of Plaintiffs’ case.

14          The Court does not find that Defendants’ concerns justify finding that 15 Plaintiffs’ counsel would not adequately represent the interests of the class.
16 Indeed, Defendants admit that Plaintiffs’ counsel has substantial experience in 17 pursuing claims of this sort.

18                   v. Conclusion

19          Accordingly, the Court finds that the requirements of Fed. R. Civ. Fed.
20 23(a)—numerosity, commonality, and typicality—have been met. The Court also 21 finds that Plaintiffs’ counsel will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the 22 class.

23                   B. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)

24          Plaintiffs move to certify the class under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(3). Under 25 this theory, the Court must find that “the questions of law or fact common to class 26 members predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, and 27 that a class action is superior to other available methods for fairly and efficiently 28 adjudicating the controversy.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(3). In short, in order to meet

1 their burden, Plaintiffs must show both predominance and superiority of the class 2 action over individual claims. Amchem Prods., 521 U.S. at 615.

3 i. Predominance

4 “Implicit in the satisfaction of the predominance test is the notion that the 5 adjudication of common issues will help achieve judicial economy.” Zinser v.
6 Accufix Research Inst., Inc., 253 F.3d 1180, 1189 (9th Cir. 2001).

7 Defendants argue that antitrust cases are not always good candidates for 8 class treatment. However, in this case, both the underlying wrongdoing and the 9 impact from that wrongdoing is alleged on a systematic, class-wide basis.

10 The Court finds that common questions predominate. Also, in support of 11 their claims, Plaintiffs are relying on specific company-wide policies and practices 12 that allegedly give rise to liability, which is conducive to a class action. See Dukes, 13 509 F.3d at 1177.

14 ii. Superiority

15 Plaintiffs must show that a class action is superior to other methods available 16 for the adjudication of the parties’ dispute. Here, a class-wide litigation of the 17 common questions will reduce litigation costs and promote greater efficiency. See 18 Valentino v. Carter-Wallace, Inc., 97 F.3d 1227, 1234 (9th Cir. 1996). It is 19 doubtful that any plaintiff will bring an individual claim that challenges the alleged 20 illegal hiring scheme, absent class certification. It is also doubtful that many of the 21 absent class members understand the American legal system. Finally, the amount 22 that could be recovered by any particular employee would be too small to justify 23 individual actions by individual employees.

24 C. Defendants’ Arguments

25 In addition to those addressed above, Defendants make the following 26 arguments against class certification: (1) determining who is an unauthorized and 27 who is an authorized worker would require an employee-specific discovery for 28 thousand of workers; (2) determining who was smuggled into the United States

1 would require mini-trials for thousands of employees; (3) determining whether 2 Defendants had actual knowledge would require thousands of mini-trials; (4) 3 determining damages raises individual issues; and (5) Plaintiffs have failed to 4 explain how they will notify the class.

5 (i) Determination of Unauthorized and Authorized Workers

6 Defendants argue that the determination of unauthorized and authorized 7 workers would cause the prosecution of the class action to be unmanageable. The 8 Court disagrees. Plaintiffs have proposed methods for determining class 9 membership which should be sufficient. Central to identification of class members 10 is the identification of who was authorized to be employed and who was not. This 11 is the same proof that will be required on the merits. While it may be difficult to 12 prove, the fact is that it can be proven, and therefore, should not be a basis for 13 declining to certify the class.

14 (ii) Determination of Who was Smuggled into the United States

15 Defendants argue that Plaintiffs' motion for class certification fails to offer 16 any method for determining whether an unauthorized EFC employee is 17 unauthorized because he or she overstayed his or her visa. This argument goes to 18 the merits of Plaintiffs' claims and does not affect the validity of the class 19 certification.

20 (iii) Determination of Whether Defendants had Actual Knowledge that Employees Entered Country Illegally

21 Along the same lines, Defendants appear to argue that in order for Plaintiffs 22 to succeed on their claims, they will need to show actual knowledge that an 23 employee was unauthorized and that the employee had entered the country 24 illegally. Again, this argument goes to the merits of Plaintiffs' claims and does not 25 affect the validity of the class certification.

26 (iv) Determining Damages Raises Individual Issues

27 Defendants argue that Plaintiffs' damages theory raises fact issues that 28 would vary by class members and would preclude class certification.

1 The fact that individualized inquiries into damages may be necessary does 2 not necessarily mean that class certification should be denied. 7A Charles A.
3 Wright, et al., Federal Practice and Procedure § 1764 (3rd) (stating that typicality 4 may exist even though “there is a disparity in the damages claimed by the 5 representative parties and the other members of the class.”). Moreover, actions 6 under Rule 23(b)(3) are generally loosely bound together by common questions of 7 law or fact and by considerations of convenience, and damages typically are 8 individual in character and disparate in amount. Id. at § 1784.

9 The Court finds that individual damages issues does not preclude class 10 certification. Under Plaintiffs’ theory, the common conspiracy has a common 11 impact. Although the measure of the impact may be different, class certification is 12 not precluded.

13 Defendants also argue that Plaintiffs have not explained how they will show 14 that Evans Fruit Co. had market power to control wages. Again, this argument 15 goes to the merits of Plaintiffs’ claims and not to whether class certification is 16 appropriate.

17 (v) Plaintiffs Have Failed to Explain How They Will Notify the 18 Class

19 Defendants assert that Plaintiffs have not explained how they will notify the 20 class. Defendants do not argue that this failure precludes certification of the class 21 action. Although the Court agrees that notice may be difficult to provide, within a 22 reasonable time, Plaintiffs can propose a plan for notification, Defendants can file 23 their objections, and the Court can rule on the proposed plan.

24 D. Conclusion

25 Plaintiffs have met their burden of persuasion that class certification is 26 appropriate. Plaintiffs’ counsel are appointed class counsel pursuant to Fed. R.
27 Civ. P. 23(g). Within 10 days from the date of this order, Plaintiffs shall file their 28 plan for notifying class members of the pendency of this action and the right to opt-out of the Rule 23(b)(3) Class. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)(2)(B).

1 2. Defendant's Motion to Exclude All or Portions of Declarations

2 In response to the Court's invitation to file a sur-reply to Defendants' 3 Motion for Summary Judgment, Plaintiffs filed Declarations from both name-4 Plaintiffs, as well as Declarations from individuals who were not previously 5 disclosed to Defendants. Defendants moved the Court to strike the Declarations 6 due to the untimely disclosure. Defendants also asserted that the Declarations 7 should be stricken because they contradicted earlier deposition testimony, 8 contained inadmissible hearsay, and lack of foundation. Defendants also argue that 9 Joyce Usher's Declaration is irrelevant.

10 Fed. R. Civ. P. 37(c)(1) states:

11 A party that without substantial justification fails to disclose 12 information required by Rule 26(a) or 26(e)(1), or to amend a prior 13 response to discovery as required by Rule 26(3)(2), is not, unless such 14 failure is harmless, permitted to use as evidence at trial, at a hearing, 15 or on a motion any witness or information not so disclosed.

16 Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(a)(1)(A)(i) states:

17 A party must, without awaiting a discovery request, provide to 18 the other party the name, and, if known, the address and telephone 19 number of each individual likely to have discoverable information . . .
20 that the disclosing party may use to support its claims or defenses.

21 Plaintiffs are not disputing that they had not previously disclosed Javier 22 Borges, Cirilo Marin, or Joyce Usher as individuals with discoverable information 23 and with whom Plaintiffs would be relying upon to prove their case. Plaintiffs 24 maintain, however, that they did not violate Fed. R. Civ. P. 26 because they 25 disclosed these witnesses within days of determining that they would use their 26 testimony. The Court disagrees with Plaintiffs' interpretation of what is required 27 under the Rules of Civil Procedure and the Court also questions Plaintiffs' 28 explanations as to how it came to pass that Plaintiffs determined they would use these individuals' statements.

At the hearing, Plaintiffs' counsel indicated to the Court that Plaintiffs had evidence that would demonstrate that co-conspirators or co-Defendants had actual knowledge that an individual was unauthorized and had entered the country

1 illegally. At the time of the hearing then, Plaintiffs' counsel knew that these 2 individuals had discoverable information. Presumably, Plaintiffs counsel had 3 contacted these individuals at some point prior to this hearing, yet never disclosed 4 these individuals to Plaintiff. Since Plaintiffs are relying on these persons to prove 5 the elements of their claims, it is inconceivable that these individuals would not 6 need to be disclosed under Fed. R. Civ. P. 26. It is not unfair or unreasonable to 7 expect Plaintiffs to prepare to prove the essential elements of the claim at trial, and 8 to identify the witnesses they needed for that purpose on a timely basis, regardless 9 of whether Defendants challenged the sufficiency of the proof of the elements in 10 motions for summary judgment. See Wong v. Regents of the Univ. Of Calif., 410 11 F.3d 1052 (9th Cir. 2005).

12 Alternatively, if it is true, as Plaintiffs explained in their briefing, that 13 Plaintiffs did not identify that these individuals had discoverable information until 14 after the February 26, 2008, hearing, then Plaintiffs were not being forthright with 15 the Court. It is significant to note that Plaintiffs did not ask for more time to 16 discover evidence to oppose Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment. Rather, 17 the Plaintiffs represented that they had already developed such information but did 18 not file it because they did not think it necessary.

19 Either way, it is well within the Court's discretion to grant Defendants' 20 Motion to Strike based on violations of Fed. R. Civ. P. 26. The Court finds that 21 Defendants were prejudiced by the untimely notification of percipient witnesses.
22 Defendants were not able to depose these witnesses to determine the factual basis 23 for their statements. Also, trial is currently set for November 17, 2008, and the 24 discovery cutoff is July 11, 2008. Notification of these witnesses just a few 25 months prior to discovery cutoff prejudices Defendants as they prepare for trial.

26 Therefore, the Court will not consider the Declarations of Javier Borges, 27 Cirilio Marin and Joyce Usher in opposition to Defendant William Evans' Motion 28 for Summary Judgment. The Court addresses the inadequacy of the Declarations 1 for the sake of the parties, but will not consider them because they are untimely.

2 The Court finds that many of the statements contained in the Declarations 3 must be excluded for lack of foundation. Plaintiffs argue that the fact that they 4 worked at the EFC Sunnyside, Washington, orchard for many years provides the 5 necessary foundation for their statements. The Court disagrees.

6 “Conclusory affidavits that do not affirmatively show personal knowledge of 7 specific facts are insufficient” to support a summary judgment motion. Shakur v.
8 Schriro, 514 F.3d 878, 890 (9th Cir. 2008). Courts have recognized that 9 declarations oftentimes will be self-serving, “and properly so, because otherwise 10 there would be no point in a party submitting them.” S.E.C. v. Phan, 500 F.3d 895, 11 909 (9th Cir. 2007) (citations omitted). As a result, in most cases, the fact that an 12 affidavit is self-serving “bears on its credibility, not on its cognizability for 13 purposes of establishing a genuine issue of material fact.” Id. “Only in certain 14 instances—such as when a declaration ‘states only conclusions, and not such facts 15 as would be admissible in evidence’—can a court disregard a self-serving 16 declaration for purposes of summary judgment.” Id.

17 In this case, there are many self-serving statements that are not based on 18 personal knowledge, but are based on information and belief. Because of this, 19 it is almost impossible to evaluate any potential hearsay implications of the 20 statements without the required personal knowledge foundation. See Norita v.
21 Northern Marina Islands, 331 F.3d 690, 697-98 (9th Cir. 2003). As such, these are 22 not admissible and the Court will not consider them in ruling on the Motion for 23 Summary Judgment. Schroeder v. McDonald, 55 F.3d 454, 459 (9th Cir. 1995);
24 Columbia Pictures Indus., Inc. v. Professional Real Estate Investors, Inc., 944 F.2d 25 1525, 1529 (9th Cir. 1991)(rejecting an affidavit because it was “not based on 26 personal knowledge, but on information and belief”).

27 The following statements made by Plaintiff Ambrosia Marin appear to be 28 based on information and belief and therefore are lacking in foundation and are

1 inadmissible:

- 2 1. Juan Marin hires people he knows or who are relatives.
- 3 2. Juan Marin personally knows the majority of the workers he hires
- 4 because they are from his hometown or from the same area in Mexico.
- 5 3. Everyone who is hired at the Sunnyside location first meets and talks
- 6 with Juan Marin and he fills out the paperwork.
- 7 4. Ninety percent of the workers hired by Juan Marin have absolutely no
- 8 documents upon arriving at EFC.

9 The following statements made by Javier Borges appear to be based on 10 information and belief and therefore are lacking in foundation and are

11 inadmissible:

- 12 1. Juan Marin is responsible for all the hiring decisions.
- 13 2. Juan Marin personally knows the majority of the workers he hires
- 14 because they are from his hometown or from the same area in Mexico.
- 15 3. Juan Marin tells his workers to ignore the no-match letters while
- 16 continuing to employ the illegal workers.
- 17 4. Filogonio is Juan Marin's brother-in-law and he is an illegal alien who
- 18 works at EFC.

19 The following statements made by Cirilo Marin appear to be based on 20 information and belief and therefore are lacking in foundation and are 21 inadmissible:

- 22 1. Juan Marin is responsible for all the hiring decisions.
- 23 2. Juan Marin personally knows the majority of the workers he hires
- 24 because they are from his hometown and from the same area in Mexico.
- 25 3. Ninety percent of the workers hired by Juan Marin have absolutely no
- 26 documents upon arriving at EFC.

27 Additionally, the Declarations of Plaintiffs Ambrosio Marin and Miguel 28 Sanchez contradict their earlier deposition testimony.

1 In his Declaration, Ambrosio Marin stated that the workers Juan Marin hires 2 typically purchased a fake social security card and a fake alien registration card. In 3 his Deposition, Plaintiff Marin stated that he had personally seen two permanent 4 resident cards that were fake and three social security cards that were fake and he 5 had not seen any of these fake documents presented to Juan Marin. In fact, 6 Plaintiff Marin stated that he believed that no one would come right out and tell 7 Juan Marin that he or she was illegal.

8 In his Declaration, Miguel Sanchez stated that while he was working full-9 time, he often heard workers talking with Juan Marin about using a coyote to cross 10 the U.S. border. These people would talk to Juan Marin about having to pay off 11 the coyote, how difficult it was to cross the border, and about when they finally 12 arrived in the United States. In his Deposition, Plaintiff Sanchez stated that he 13 heard someone tell Juan Marin on one occasion that he or she was an illegal alien.
14 He stated that there was only one incident.

15 The Court would disregard these statements as set forth in the Declaration 16 that contradicts Plaintiffs' prior deposition testimony. See Kennedy v. Allied Mut.
17 Ins. Co., 952 F.2d 262, 267 (9th Cir. 1991). The Court has reviewed the deposition 18 testimony and concludes that Plaintiffs were not confused at the deposition, nor do 19 the declarations explain those aspects of the deposition testimony.

20 The Court finds that many of the statements in the Declarations contain 21 inadmissible hearsay. Notably, the statement by Joyce Usher in which she stated 22 that a warehouse worker told her that Bill Evans personally went to the warehouse 23 and told workers that the INS was coming is admitted for the truth of the matter 24 asserted, that is, to prove that Bill Evans told workers that INS was coming. As 25 such, it is inadmissible as a hearsay statement.

3. Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment

A. Standard of Review

Summary judgment is appropriate if the “pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(c). There is no genuine issue for trial unless there is sufficient evidence favoring the non-moving party for a jury to return a verdict in that party’s favor. Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 250 (1986). The moving party has the initial burden of showing the absence of a genuine issue of fact for trial. Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 325 (1986). If the moving party meets its initial burden, the non-moving party must go beyond the pleadings and “set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial.” Id. at 325; Anderson, 477 U.S. at 248.

To survive a motion for summary judgment, plaintiffs must produce sufficient evidence to establish the existence of every essential element of their case on which they will bear the burden of proof at trial. Celotex, 477 U.S. at 323. When considering a motion for summary judgment, a court may neither weigh the evidence nor assess credibility; instead, “the evidence of the non-movant is to be believed, and all justifiable inferences are to be drawn in his favor.” Anderson, 477 U.S. at 255.

In addition to showing that there are no questions of material fact, the moving party must also show that it is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Smith v. Univ. of Washington Law School, 233 F.3d 1188, 1193 (9th Cir. 2000).

B. Plaintiffs' Claims Against William Evans

In their Amended Complaint, Plaintiffs allege that Defendant William Evans participated in the Illegal Immigrant Hiring Scheme by approving certain hiring criteria and setting and approving wage levels that are too low to attract sufficient numbers of legal workers to staff EFC (Ct. Rec. 68, ¶¶ 16, 18). Plaintiffs also

1 allege that Defendant Williams Evans directed Juan Marin to facilitate the Illegal 2 Immigrant Hiring Scheme (Ct. Rec. 68, ¶ 21). Plaintiffs allege that Defendant 3 William Evans violated 18 U.S.C. § 1962(d) by participating in a conspiracy to 4 perpetrate the Scheme by participating in the affairs of EFC through a pattern of 5 racketeering activity (Ct. Rec. 2).

6 C. Proof of Elements of Predicate Offenses

7 Plaintiffs are bringing their claims under RICO, and specifically under 18 8 U.S.C. § 1962(d). To prove a violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1962(d), Plaintiffs must 9 show (1) a conspiracy (2) with the purpose of violating 18 U.S.C. § 1962(c). To 10 prove a violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1962(c), Plaintiffs must show that a conspirator 11 conducted or participated in the activities of an enterprise through a pattern of 12 racketeering activity. Reves v. Ernst & Young, 507 U.S. 170, 177 (1993). Plaintiffs 13 must also prove the requisite injury to “business or property” and that the injury 14 was “by reasons of” the predicate RICO violation. Canyon County v. Syngenta 15 Seeds, Inc., 519 F.3d 969, 972 (9th Cir. 2008).

16 In Salinas v. United States, the Supreme Court held that in order to be 17 convicted under the RICO conspiracy statute, it is not necessary for the defendant 18 to commit or agree to commit the two predicate acts requisite for a substantive 19 RICO offense under § 1962(c). 522 U.S. 52, 65 (1997). Rather, as long as the 20 defendant knew about and agreed to facilitate the scheme, this is sufficient to 21 support a conviction under § 1962(d). Id. Specifically, the Supreme Court held:

22 A conspirator must intend to further an endeavor which, if 23 completed, would satisfy all of the elements of a substantive criminal 24 offense, but it suffices that he adopt the goal of furthering or 25 facilitating the criminal endeavor. He may do so in any number of 26 ways short of agreeing to undertake all of the acts necessary for the 27 crime's completion. One can be a conspirator by agreeing to facilitate 28 only some of the acts leading to the substantive offense. It is elementary that a conspiracy may exist and be punished whether or not the substantive crime ensues, for the conspiracy is a distinct evil, dangerous to the public, and so punishable in itself.

Id.; see also United States v. Frega, 179 F.3d 793, 818 (9th Cir. 1999) (“[I]t is clear that RICO conspiracy is ‘more comprehensive’ than a general conspiracy. Unlike 1 most ordinary conspirators, RICO conspirators do not need to commit, or agree to 2 commit, overt acts; they just need to agree on the overall objective of the 3 conspiracy with knowledge that others are similarly agreeing.”).

4 In Beck v. Prupis, the Supreme Court held that “a person may not bring suit 5 under § 1964(a) predicated on injuries caused by an overt act that is not an act of 6 racketeering or otherwise unlawful under the statute. 529 U.S. 494, 507 (2000). In 7 that case, the plaintiff was terminated, allegedly in furtherance of a RICO 8 conspiracy, but the termination was not independently wrongful under any 9 provision of RICO and the injury caused by the termination was not sufficient to 10 give rise to a cause of action under RICO. Id.

11 To show a pattern of racketeering, Plaintiffs will have to show at least two 12 acts of racketeering activity, one of which occurred after the effective date of the 13 RICO chapter and the last of which occurred within ten years after the commission 14 of the prior act of racketeering activity. 18 U.S.C. § 1961(5). The racketeering 15 activity that is alleged by Plaintiffs are violations of 8 U.S.C. § 1324(a)(3)(A)<sup>2</sup> and 16 § 1324(a)(1)(A)(iii)<sup>3</sup>. Thus, to establish a RICO claim, Plaintiffs must provide

---

18 <sup>2</sup>Employment of aliens: Any person, who, during any 12-month period, 19 knowingly hires for employment at least 10 individuals with actual knowledge that 20 the individuals are aliens . . . shall be fined under Title 18, or imprisoned for not 21 more than 5 years, or both. 8 U.S.C. § 1324(a)(3)(A). Aliens are defined as an 22 alien who—(i) is an unauthorized alien and (ii) had been illegally brought into the 23 United States. § 1324(a)(3)(B).

24 <sup>3</sup>Harboring of Aliens: Any person who— knowing or in reckless disregard 25 of the fact that an alien has come to, entered, or remains in the United States in 26 violation of law, conceals, harbors, or shields from detection, or attempts to 27 conceal, harbor, or shield from detection, such alien in any place, including any 28 building or any means of transportation. 8 U.S.C. § 1324(a)(1)(iii). Aliens are defined as an alien who—(i) is an unauthorized alien and (ii) had been illegally

1 sufficient probative evidence of the material elements of these predicate offenses.

2 Under section 1324(a)(3)(A), Plaintiffs must present evidence that during a 3 twelve-month period, Defendants conspired to knowingly hire at least ten 4 individuals with actual knowledge those individuals were unauthorized to work in 5 the United States and were brought into the country for purposes of illegal 6 employment. See Trollinger v. Tyson Foods, Inc., 543 Supp.2d 842, 847 (E.D.
7 Tenn. 2008). Under section 1324(a)(1)(A)(iii), Plaintiffs must present admissible 8 evidence to prove that Defendants conspired to commit actions to substantially 9 facilitate an alien remaining in this country illegally and did so with knowledge or 10 a reckless disregard of the fact that the alien illegally entered or remained in the 11 United States. Id. at 854.

12 Plaintiffs argue that Defendant Evans' role in the conspiracy was to 13 implement or approve policies that allowed EFC to knowingly hire and harbor 14 illegal aliens. Plaintiffs have not identified any policies that allowed EFC to 15 knowingly hire and harbor illegal aliens. Thus, in order to find for the Plaintiff, a 16 reasonable jury would have to rely on inferences from the evidence in the record.
17 Plaintiffs' arguments rest on their allegations that because there are illegal aliens 18 hired at EFC, there must be policies in place that permit that to happen. Also, 19 Plaintiffs argue that Defendant Evans facilitated a policy of willful blindness 20 through the creation and implementation of EFC policies regarding the hiring and 21 housing of EFC employees that enabled others to commit the necessary predicate 22 hiring and harboring acts. In contrast, Defendants have presented ample evidence 23 of policies in place at EFC that are designed to prevent the hiring of illegal aliens.

24 Plaintiffs rely in part on a list of ninety-one workers compiled by Plaintiff 25 Marin in which he identifies as illegal aliens that were employed by EFC (Ct. Rec.
26 126-2, Ex. E). Plaintiff Marin does not set forth the basis of his knowledge and as 27 such, this list is entirely lacking in foundation, is inadmissible, and would not 28 _____ brought into the United States in violation of § 1324(a)(3)(B).

1 support an inference of a company-wide policy of willful blindness or the hiring or 2 harboring of illegal aliens. Additionally, this list fails to provide the dates that 3 these ninety-one workers were employed so it would not establish the temporal 4 element of the offense.

5 Under the RICO claim, it is not enough for the jury to infer that there were 6 company-wide policies that would permit the hiring and harboring of illegal aliens.
7 The jury would have to infer that the company-wide policies permitted the hiring 8 and harboring of at least 10 individuals within a 12-month period who had been 9 illegally brought into the United States. Plaintiff Marin stated that he had 10 personally seen two permanent resident cards that were fake and three social 11 security cards that were fake. Plaintiff Sanchez stated that there was only one 12 incident in which he heard an employee tell Juan Marin that he or she was an 13 illegal alien. There simply is not enough evidence for a jury to conclude that EFC 14 has in place a company-wide policy that would permit the hiring and harboring of 15 at least 10 illegal aliens in a 12-month period.

16 Plaintiffs also argue that co-conspirators or co-Defendants committed a 17 pattern of racketeering activity. Yet, Plaintiffs have not presented admissible 18 evidence that would suggest that any of the co-conspirators or co-Defendants 19 committed a pattern of racketeering activity. To do so, Plaintiffs would have to 20 show that a co-conspirator or co-Defendant knowingly hired at least ten individuals 21 with actual knowledge that the individual was unauthorized and had been brought 22 into the United States within a 12-month period.

23 Plaintiff Ambrosia Marin stated that he was hired by Juan Marin in 1986, 24 that Juan Marin knew that he was illegal and entered the United States with a 25 coyote. He also stated that Juan Marin had sent someone to pick him up in 26 California. On the other hand, Ambrosia Marin stated in his deposition that he had 27 not seen any fake documents presented to Juan Marin. Plaintiff Marin also stated 28 that he believed that no one would come right out and tell Juan Marin that he or

1 she was illegal.<sup>4</sup> Plaintiff Marin has personally observed Alberto Salivdar selling 2 fake documents since 2002.<sup>5</sup> He has personally observed Juan Marin telling his 3 workers to ignore the SSN letters while continuing to employ illegal workers.

4 Plaintiff Miguel Sanchez stated that he heard workers talking with Juan 5 Marin about using a coyote and also heard Juan Marin talking with workers about 6 mutual friends (presumably from his hometown in Mexico). Plaintiff Sanchez also 7 stated that Juan Marin assigns multiple workers the same social security number.
8 Specifically, he stated that when he was sick on three occasions, another worker 9 used his social security number without his permission. Consequently, he had to 10 give a portion of his paycheck to that employee. The first time this happened Jesus 11 Garcia came to his house and Defendants William Evans, Tim Evans, and Juan 12 Marin were waiting outside. The same thing happened to a friend of his. Plaintiff 13 Miguel Sanchez stated that he believes that Juan Marin prefers hiring illegal 14 workers rather than legal workers, because, according to Marin, illegal workers 15 will not request unemployment benefits.

16 The inferences that would have to be made from these statements has to 17 support a finding that a co-conspirator or co-Defendant knowingly hired at least 18 ten individuals with actual knowledge that the individual was unauthorized and had 19 been brought into the United States within a 12-month period. The Court finds 20 that these statements do not provide sufficient evidence for a reasonable jury to 21 conclude that Defendant William Evans or a co-conspirator violated 8 U.S.C. § 22

23 <sup>4</sup>In his Declaration, Ambrosia Marin stated that he personally heard 24 conversations where people would tell Juan Marin that they had used a coyote and 25 would update him about other workers en route to EFC from Mexico. However, 26 this contradicts his statement that he believed no one would tell Juan Marin that he 27 or she was illegal.

28 <sup>5</sup>The Court notes that Plaintiff Marin began working at EFC for the second time in 2004.

1 1324(a)(3)(A). Without names and dates, it would be impossible for a jury to find 2 by a preponderance of the evidence that anyone associated with EFC committed a 3 predicate act.

4 One would expect Plaintiffs to present to the Court in an admissible manner 5 the names of the illegal employees, when they were hired, by whom they were 6 hired, and when and how they had been brought into the country. Even at this 7 point in the proceedings, Plaintiffs have not done so. Rather, Plaintiffs provided 8 Declarations in which no names were provided and no time frames were provided.
9 There is nothing in the Declarations, even if the Court were to admit the entire 10 Declarations, for the jury to find that any co-conspirator knowingly hired for 11 employment at least ten individuals with actual knowledge that the individuals 12 were unauthorized aliens who were illegally brought into the United States.

13 In their Complaint, Plaintiffs allege that EFC provides housing to illegal 14 aliens, which, if true, establishes the harboring offense. In addition, Plaintiffs 15 alleged that Defendant Evans fails to implement any meaningful oversight of the 16 housing process and thereby facilitates EFC's RICO harboring violations. Finally, 17 in their sur-reply, Plaintiffs allege that Defendant William Evans facilitated the re-18 hiring of illegal workers after the INS audit. The proof that Plaintiffs provide for 19 the tip-off is testimony from Joyce Usher. She stated that she was directed by Bill 20 Evans and his lawyer to process new I-9 Forms and W-4 Forms for the same 21 workers who did not show up for work during the INS audit. Defendants counter 22 that the employees who missed work on this day were terminated within a matter 23 of months and were not rehired by EFC. As discussed above, the Court strikes the 24 declaration of Joyce Usher because of its untimely disclosure.

25 Consequently, the only remaining evidence that Plaintiffs have provided to 26 the Court with respect to the harboring claim is the following: (1) Defendants' 27 declaration that he provides housing that he and his wife own to EFC employees 28 and their families; (2) Defendant facilitates EFC's policy of ignoring the factors

1 that indicate that the employees housed are illegal aliens; and (3) Plaintiff Marin 2 identified several illegal aliens housed by EFC.

3 In support of their motion, Defendants provided a declaration from Shirley 4 Archer, an EFC employee, in which she states that she is not aware of any illegal 5 aliens on the list of residents that she compiled, and was unable to find any 6 government notification that these residents were illegal.

7 Plaintiff Marin's statement in which he identified several illegal aliens on 8 Archer's list lack foundation. There is no basis for his knowledge. For the same 9 reasons as discussed above, the statements lack foundation and cannot be used to 10 challenge a motion for summary judgment.

11 The Court finds that Plaintiffs have not established that there are any 12 genuine issues of material fact, nor have they provided sufficient evidence for a 13 reasonable jury to find that William Evans harbored illegal aliens.

14 C. Conclusion

15 Plaintiffs have not met their burden of providing sufficient evidence for a 16 reasonable jury to find that William Evans committed or conspired to commit a 17 predicate act. There is no direct evidence of an agreement or conspiracy to commit 18 the predicate offenses. Thus, in order for Plaintiffs to prevail, they must 19 demonstrate that there is sufficient evidence for the jury to infer that there was an 20 agreement or conspiracy to commit the predicate offenses. Plaintiffs have failed to 21 do so. As such, summary judgment in favor of Defendant William Evans is 22 appropriate.

23 4. Plaintiffs' Motions to Vacate Remainder of Scheduling Order; 24 Motion for Protective Order

25 On February 22, 2008, Plaintiffs filed a motion to vacate the Scheduling 26 Order. Specifically, Plaintiffs asked that the Scheduling Order be amended to 27 extend the deadline for expert witness discovery due to the recent positions taken 28 by Defendants in the response to the class certification and that it would be inefficient to conduct lengthy and expensive expert discovery prior to ruling on 1 class certification and summary judgment. Additionally, Plaintiffs are seeking a 2 protective order to stay all merits discovery until after a ruling on class certification 3 and partial summary judgment.

4 In the absence of a decision by the Court to close all discovery in accordance 5 with the original schedule, discovery would be effectively closed at this point.

6 Closing discovery at this point would not serve either party. Consequently, new 7 deadlines must be established. The Court will extend the discovery cutoff deadline 8 an additional 90 days to October 24, 2008. Plaintiffs shall provide their expert 9 witness discovery within 45 days from the date of this order. In order to 10 accommodate the extension of the discovery deadline, the November 18, 2008, 11 trial date is stricken. A new trial date is set for January 26, 2009.

12 Additionally, the Court grants Defendant Tim Evans leave to conduct the 13 depositions of Plaintiffs Marin and Sanchez.

14 5. Defendant Tim Evan's Motion to Compel Discovery

15 On February 20, 2008, Defendant Tim Evans served one interrogatory and 16 one document request. Plaintiffs have refused to respond to the discovery request 17 pending the Court's ruling on their Motion to Vacate Remainder of Scheduling 18 Order and Motion for Protective Order. The Court finds that good cause exists to 19 grant the motion. Within 14 days from the date of this order, Plaintiffs shall 20 respond to Defendant's outstanding discovery requests.

21 6. Pending Motion for Summary Judgment

22 Based on the extension of the expert disclosure and discovery deadline 23 previously granted by the Court, the Court denies Defendants' Motion for 24 Summary Judgement based on the lack of expert testimony with leave to renew 25 after the expert disclosure deadline passes.

1 Accordingly, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED:

2 1. Plaintiffs' Motion to Certify Class (Ct. Rec. 74) is GRANTED. Within 3 10 days from the date of this Order, Plaintiffs shall file their plan for notifying 4 class members of the pendency of this action and the right to opt-out of the Rule 5 23(b)(3) Class.

6 2. Defendant William Evans' Motion for Summary Judgment (Ct. Rec. 80)
7 is GRANTED.

8 3. Plaintiffs' Motion to Vacate Remainder of Scheduling Order (Ct. Rec.
9 112) is GRANTED. Within 45 days from the date of this Order, Plaintiffs shall 10 provide their expert witness discovery. The discovery deadline is set for October 11 24, 2008. The November 18, 2008, trial is stricken. A new jury trial is set for 12 January 26, 2009, at 9:00 a.m., in Yakima, Washington.

13 5. Plaintiffs' Motion for Protective Order (Ct. Rec. 116) is DENIED, as 14 moot.

15 6. Defendants' Motion to Exclude All Portions of Declarations (Ct. Rec.
16 130) is GRANTED.

17 7. Defendant Tim Evans' Motion to Compel Discovery Responses (Ct.
18 Rec. 142) is GRANTED. Within 14 days from the date of this order, Plaintiffs 19 shall respond to Defendant Tim Evans' outstanding discovery requests.

20 8. Defendants' Motion for Leave to File Over-Length Brief (Ct. Rec. 96) is 21 GRANTED.

22 9. Defendants' Motion for Leave to File Over-Length Brief (Ct. Rec. 101)
23 is GRANTED.

24 10. Plaintiffs' Motion for Leave to File a Reply Brief in Excess of Ten 25 Pages (Ct. Rec. 107) is GRANTED.

26 11. Plaintiffs' Motion for Leave to File a Brief in Excess of Ten Pages (Ct.
27 Rec. 139) is GRANTED.

1 12. Defendants' Motion for Summary Judgment (Ct. Rec. 155) is 2 DENIED, with leave to renew.

3 IT IS SO ORDERED. The District Court Executive is directed to enter this 4 Order and forward copies to counsel.

5 DATED this 23rd day of July, 2008.
